Information regarding recall of Lucky Me! Products in the EU and Taiwan

Background/Description of the Disclosure

We are aware of information being shared about certain Lucky Me! Products in an ongoing recall in the EU and Taiwan due to the presence of Ethylene Oxide. The recall affects other companies' noodle brand and multiple categories such as ice cream, sesame seed, spices, calcium carbonate supplements, among others.

We would like to clarify that Ethylene Oxide is not added in Lucky Me! products. It is a commonly used treatment in spices and seeds to control microbial growth typical in agricultural products. These materials, when processed into seasoning and sauces, may still show traces of Ethylene Oxide. Rest assured that all Lucky Me! products are Philippine FDA registered and comply with local food safety standards and even the US FDA standards for Ethylene Oxide.

For any concerns, please email customer-care@mondenissin.com.
